INTEGRATING TECH TOOLS TO MEET GIFTED STUDENTS' NEEDS

☆ Home

Edit 0 0 3 ...

Welcome to GT Tech Tools!

This is an open wiki, so feel free to contribute in order to enhance everyone's learning.

From this wiki you will be able to navigate to all the web sites used in workshops. In addition, the handouts will be posted here for easy access. Finally, it could grow into a community for GT teachers and specialist who are working toward the shared goal of integrating technology tools into instruction to meet gifted students' needs. In order for a community to develop, you have to take the risk of contributing to the wiki. Simply click on "edit" and add to any page to contribute!

Thanks for your dedication and commitment to meeting gifted and talented students' needs. This special needs population needs strong advocates, especially in a time of shrinking budgets.

If you have questions or concerns, Dr. Lynette Breedlove of Spring Branch ISD.

The screenshot shows the PrimaryPad website. The top navigation bar includes links for 'What is PrimaryPad?', 'Features', 'Pricing', 'Teachers', 'Support', and 'More'. On the left sidebar, there are buttons for 'Create New Pad' (with a subtext 'No sign up or registration required'), 'Sign Up', and 'Login'. Below these are social media links for Twitter and HootSuite. The main content area features a description of PrimaryPad as a web-based word processor for schools, a video player showing a version 17 saved on August 1, 2011, and a 'Return to pad' link. A large black box with white text overlays the center, displaying two URLs: <http://piratepad.net> and <http://titanpad.net>. At the bottom, there is a 'Share Our Service' section with icons for various social media platforms and a 'Public Pad' section with a video player showing a welcome message and instructions on how to use the service.

Welcome to the Great Books for Gifted Kids Wikispace!

The goal of this wiki is to provide teachers of gifted and talented students a place to start when looking for great books for gifted kids. Here you'll find suggested books and information about those books. In addition, I hope teachers will post or link to great lesson plans using the books suggested here.

Feel free to link, discuss, comment, and add pages on books you suggest.

To be included here, a book must:

1. feature a character who exhibits gifted and talented characteristics
2. deal with some issue that gifted children often face.

It also helps if it's a book of high quality, such as award winners.

When you add a page about a book, be sure to add it to Summary Chart called The Books! in the navigation bar. That's how others will find it.

Each individual book page should include the following, if possible:

Title:

Author:

Illustrators:

Publisher & Date:

Basics:

- Ages:
- Type (picture, chapter, young adult, adult):
- Length:
- Themes (issues related to gifted, e.g. asynchrony, peers, introversion, sensitivity, intensity, perfectionism):

Main Character(s):

- Name(s):
- Age(s):
- Characteristics of giftedness (e.g. advanced vocabulary, imaginal overexcitability - see Silverman's List or the Overexcitabilities):

Bibliotherapy question:

Reviews:

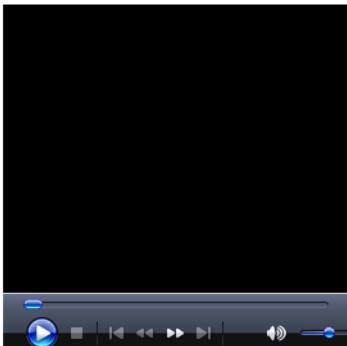

Personal recommendation:

Links to lessons:

Other: (e.g.: Wordle, links to author interview, student book review)
